ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This is the first of a group of new-style Iowa county histories which will eventually include all of the 99 counties of the Hawkeye State. It is part of an over-all publishing project known as The American Aerial County History Series—a project that, ultimately, will embrace all of the 3,103 counties of the United States. A list of already-published volumes in the Illinois and Indiana groups is printed on the back of the title page of this work. Each book specializes in low-altitude aerial photographs of cities, towns, villages and farmsteads. In each volume, also, are a streamlined history of the county and brief historical narratives of its cities, towns and villages. The text for each volume is being written by John Drury, author of Historic Midwest Houses, Midwest Heritage, etc., and member of the American Association for State and Local History and the Illinois State Historical Society.

In the preparation of this work on Washington County, Iowa, the writer and publisher hereby acknowledge their gratitude, for advice and assistance generously given them, to Mr. Joseph C. Wolf and Mrs. Ellen Chase of the Newberry Library, Chicago; to Mr. Herbert H. Hewitt, Mrs. Roberta Sutton and Miss Winifred Baum, all of the Chicago Public Library, Chicago; and to various librarians, public officials, business executives and private citizens of the city of Washington and the county of Washington, Iowa. The author also wishes to express special acknowledgment to his wife, Marion Neville Drury, for research, editorial and proof-reading assistance.

Grateful appreciation is also shown here to officials of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Commerce and to officials of the Highway Planning Survey section of the Iowa State Highway Commission for permission to use the Washington County maps included in this book.

STORY OF WASHINGTON COUNTY, IOWA

Located in the southeast section of Iowa, not far from the Iowa River, Washington County was long known beyond its borders as the "home county" of the late Smith W. Brookhart, one of the foremost of United States Senators during the 1920's, or during the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover presidential administrations. Although not a native son of the Hawkeye State, Senator Brookhart first began the practice of law in Washington County in the early 1890's and it was there he lived until his death in 1944.

In recent years, also, Washington County was prominent as one of the country's leading turkey-raising centers. At one period its famed Maple Crest Co-operative Turkey Farms, on the outskirts of the town of Wellman, produced some half a million turkeys annually, valued at about $2,000,000. More than 170 farmers in the vicinity were under contract to supply turkeys to the co-operative organization.

Today, Washington County is of interest not only for its great Lake Darling State Park, a recreation area (with an artificial lake) in the southwest corner of the county, but for its high position as an agricultural county of the Hawkeye State. In 1949 the value of all farm products (livestock, crops, poultry, dairy products) sold in the county amounted to $19,686,000, whereas the value of articles manufactured in the county, about the same time, amounted to $2,495,000. At that period the county had a total of 40,888 head of cattle and calves of all ages.

INDIAN OCCUPATION

When white men first began to penetrate the wilderness region that in after-years became the State of Iowa, they found here bands of an Indian tribe known as the "Ioway" or "Iowa"—a tribe that gave its name to the state. At a later period came the Sauk and Fox tribes, and the men of these tribes hunted and fished up and down the Des Moines, the Iowa and other rivers of the region. In the years just after the American Revolution, three chiefs of the Sauks and Foxes arose who played important roles in the history of the Iowa countryside. These three were Black Hawk, Keokuk and Wapello.

Although Chiefs Keokuk and Wapello gave way to the westward march of white men and early moved across the Mississippi River into the Iowa region, Chief Black Hawk decided to fight the whites and it was this stand that brought on the Black Hawk War of 1832, a conflict fought mostly in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. But Black Hawk lost the war and thereafter joined his brother chiefs in the area that became Iowa. A year or two after the war, the government removed all Indians of the Iowa country beyond a line fifty miles west of the Mississippi River, and thus the eastern portion of the area was opened to white settlement.

TERRITORIAL DAYS

Originally, the Iowa countryside, and all of the upper Mississippi Valley, was claimed by France after it was first discovered by Father Marquette and Louis Jolliet in 1673. Then, a little more than a hundred years later, it was transferred to Spain—that is, the vast area west of the Mississippi River. In 1800 this great domain once more came under the French flag and so remained until 1803 when the United States acquired it as part of the Louisiana Purchase.

After being part of Missouri Territory (1812-1821), an unorganized region (1821-1834), part of Michigan Territory (1835) and part of Wisconsin Territory (1836-1838), the Iowa countryside finally became a territory of its own on July 4, 1838. Its first territorial governor was Robert Lucas. At that time the population of the new territory was 22,859. As population increased in the years following, a movement was started for statehood. This was finally achieved in 1846. In that year the new state had a population of 116,454.

FIRST SETTLER

In the same year that the Iowa countryside was part of Michigan Territory (1835), there came into the area that now is Washington County a courageous pioneer named Adam Ritchie. With him was a friend, one John Black. Both men were from Illinois. They were looking for good land on which to build homes and lay out farms. And Adam Ritchie, it seems, found what he wanted in the southeast corner of what later became Washington County, near the site of the present-day town of Crawfordsville.

Although this place was regarded as dangerously close to the "Indian Line," to the reservations set up by the government after the Black Hawk War of 1832, yet Adam Ritchie chose to ignore this and decided to stake out a claim in the area he had found. As it was in the fall of the year, however, he concluded to wait until the following spring to settle here. He and John Black accordingly returned to Illinois.

In the spring of 1836, then, Adam Ritchie came back to the area of future Washington County. With him were his two brothers, Matthew and Thomas, and a man named Humphrey. We are told that they crossed the Mississippi River on solid ice. On arriving at the site he had chosen for a home, Adam Ritchie not only staked out a claim but immediately built a log cabin, assisted by the other men of the party. It was in this cabin, then, that Adam Ritchie became the first settler of Washington County.

In the meantime, Adam Ritchie's two brothers and the man named Humphrey, after staking out claims of their own here, returned to Illinois. Left alone in his cabin on the north side of Crooked Creek, in Section 27, Adam Ritchie occupied his time in making various improvements about the place. Soon afterwards he became seriously ill with malarial fever and might have died but for the timely appearance of some wandering Indians, who nursed him back to health.

Once more on his feet, Adam Ritchie journeyed back to Illinois and remained there until May, 1836. In that month he again returned to his Iowa claim, this time accompanied by his son Matthew, aged fifteen, and his daughter Sarah, aged thirteen. After fencing in a portion of his land, Ritchie planted this in corn—the first corn to be planted by a white man in what is now Washington County. He then went back to Illinois again to gather up the rest of his family, and, by October, 1836, was at last permanently established in his new home on the Iowa prairies.

MOORE SETTLEMENT

When Adam Ritchie returned to the Iowa countryside with the last of his family in October of 1836, he found something of a settlement of newcomers in the region northwest of his place, near the future site of Washington city. This was a group of pioneers headed by Richard Moore, who may be regarded as the second settler of Washington County. It was in the spring of 1836 that Richard Moore, accompanied by his two sons, Amos and Thaddeus, and his son-in-law, John C. Maulsby, first came to the area and staked out a claim.

Moore and his party then returned to the place they had come from, Indiana. In the following autumn, Richard Moore headed west again for his new home and with him was his family, consisting of his wife, five sons and two daughters. Also with him were John Mosteller, George Baxter and William Hunter. These were the people who built log cabins and laid out farms in the early Moore settlement just southeast of future Washington city.

INDIAN TROUBLE

Another who came in the fall of 1836 was Thomas Baker, who settled closer to the "Indian Line" than his predecessors in the region. In fact, he settled so close that the Indians soon began to complain about Baker's livestock. And matters got worse during the winter of 1836-1837 when, for some reason, the Indians on the reservations failed to receive their annuities from the government.

In April, 1837, one of the regional chiefs, Wapello, called at the cabin of Richard Moore and said that his tribesmen were insisting on the removal of Thomas Baker and his troublesome cattle. On the following day a band of Indians descended on the Baker cabin, forced its owner to leave, and left it a mass of smoking ruins.

A week later, another band of Indians called at the Richard Moore cabin and demanded that he, too, leave the countryside. When Moore could not reason with the natives, he decided it would be unsafe to remain. Gathering up his family, Moore, together with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Maulsby, hurriedly left the place and went to Henry County, Iowa, where they remained until 1839. In that year the Indian reservations were moved farther westward and Richard Moore and his family and kinsman returned to their land in Washington County.

OTHER EARLY SETTLERS

In the year 1837 a number of other settlers arrived in future Washington County. By that time the Iowa countryside had become part of Wisconsin Territory. Among the 1837 arrivals was David Goble and family, together with Oliver Sweet. Staking out a claim in what is now Oregon Township, they at first lived in a tent and then built a double log cabin for their permanent home.

In that same year, Milo Holcomb and John B. Bullock came from Monmouth, Illinois, and established an Indian trading post on Crooked Creek, not far from the Moore settlement. Later, these two men erected a gristmill near their trading post and this was the first mill to be built in Washington County.

Another 1837 arrival was Silas Washburne, who started a small settlement near the present town of Brighton. He was joined a few months later by Morgan Hart, and then, in 1838, came S. Seneca Beach and John Beers, who staked out claims near the Washburne cabin. After 1839, when the Indian reservations were moved farther westward, an inrush of newcomers took place and additional settlements were started in many parts of the Iowa region.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNTY

By the year 1839 there were about 300 inhabitants in the area with which we are concerned—enough to set up formal organization of a county. Although a vaguely-outlined county had been established here by the Wisconsin territorial legislature and given the name of Slaughter County, this was changed after the Iowa region became a territory of its own in 1838.

Describing the organization of Washington County, the Portrait and Biographical Album of Washington County, Iowa (1887), has this to say: "At a session of the Territorial Legislature, the Territory of Iowa having just been formed, an act was passed, approved Jan. 25, 1839, changing the name of Slaughter to that of Washington, and defining the boundaries of the county as they now exist, with the exception of that all east of the Iowa River, in township 77 north, of range 6 west, has been transferred to Johnson County. By the act the county was recognized as organized, and invested with full power and authority to transact all county business."

SELECTION OF COUNTY SEAT

As was customary at the time, the Iowa territorial legislature appointed three men from outside newly-created Washington County to serve on a commission for the selection of a county seat. The three commissioners named were John Gilliland of Louisa County, Thomas Ritchie of Henry County, and William Chambers of Muscatine County. They were ordered to meet on June 1, 1839, at the new town of Astoria, which then stood in what is now Oregon Township, and decide on the location of a county seat.

On the day of the meeting, however, only Gilliland and Ritchie were present. As it developed, neither could agree on a proper site, but a compromise was finally effected and the present site of Washington city was chosen. Incidentally, the founders of Astoria, Messrs. Hill, Hughes and Randolph, all of Mt. Pleasant, strongly urged that their new town be selected as county seat. When Astoria failed to gain the title, it declined and eventually disappeared from the countryside.

FIRST COUNTY OFFICERS

At Washington County's first election, held in August, 1839, the following were chosen for public office: Richard Moore, Morgan Hart and Simon P. Teetle, members of the Board of County Commissioners; David Goble, treasurer; Nathan Baker, probate judge; Reuben Hiatt, coroner; and J. B. Davis, county surveyor. It is to be recalled that Richard Moore was the county's second permanent settler, having arrived from Indiana in 1836. He lived the remainder of his life on a farm southeast of Washington city, and there died in 1855. Two other early settlers of the county were Morgan Hart and David Goble, both of whom arrived in 1837.

SALE OF TOWN LOTS

Meeting at the log cabin home of County Commissioner Richard Moore, which was designated a temporary courthouse, the Board of County Commissioners ordered the clerk of the board to plat the town of Washington and have it surveyed into blocks and lots. He was also ordered to advertise a sale of lots, to be held on August 19, 1839. On the day of the sale, Joseph Patterson acted as the seller, or "crier," of the lots. When the sale was over, it was found that twenty-four lots had been sold at an average price of $38.00 per lot, the total amounting to $915.50. Terms of the sale of each lot were one-eighth cash in hand, the remainder in three equal payments in six, twelve and eighteen months.

FIRST COURTHOUSE

It was in 1840, one year after the county was organized, that Washington residents saw the completion of their first courthouse. This edifice was constructed by Joseph Neil, who received $759 for his work. "This building," says one local historical work, "stood upon the southwest corner of the public square, and was used not only for county offices and court purposes but for school sessions, religious services and as a place of amusement." It was described as a two-story frame edifice, "weatherboarded with black walnut lumber." Here, then, Washington County transacted its official business until 1847, when a newer and larger courthouse was erected in the center of the Public Square.

FIRST COUNTY JAIL

With the completion of the county's first courthouse, the County Commissioners next ordered the construction of a permanent jail. This was built in 1841 by Messrs. Alexander Lee, J. B. Davis and Thomas Baker at a total cost of $1,020. We are told that it was a solid structure of log construction, two stories high. There were no doors or windows on the first floor. A prisoner was taken up a flight of outside steps to the second floor and here let down, through a trap door, into the dark, dungeon-like first floor. After serving the county for over a quarter of a century, this first primitive jail was replaced by a more modern structure, a "fine two-story brick" building that was "an honor to the county."

CIVIL TOWNSHIPS ESTABLISHED

In 1844 the Board of County Commissioners organized the county into ten civil townships and ordered that elections be held in each for the selection of a township supervisor. These ten original townships of the county are Brighton, Cedar, Clay, Crawford, Dutch Creek, English River, Iowa, Lime Creek, Marion and Washington. Since then, five more townships were created in the county—Franklin, Highland, Jackson, Oregon and Seventy-Six. The last one mentioned here was given a number instead of a name.

FIRST RAILROAD

An event of great importance in the history of Washington County was the arrival of its first railroad. Although numerous railroads had been planned for the county during the early 1850's, none of them got beyond the "paper" stage. It was not until September 1, 1858, that citizens of the county saw their first Iron Horse. On that day a wood-burning locomotive, with several "cars," arrived in Washington city and was loudly cheered by a vast throng. This first railroad of the county was the Mississippi & Missouri Railroad—now part of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific System.

One account of this first railroad, which originally ran from Muscatine to Washington city, has this to say: "The Mississippi & Missouri Road was completed at the time specified and a jubilee was held in Washington on the occasion. A great dinner was given on Sept. 1, 1858, to which over a thousand guests were invited. Many toasts were offered to which responses were made by speakers from various places. The Washington Post gave a glowing account of the affair, which it said was hardly ever equaled in the West."

CIVIL WAR

When President Lincoln issued an urgent call for 75,000 volunteers at the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861, Washington County quickly responded with more than its quota of men and money for the Union cause. First to be mustered into service was the Washington Light Guards, which then was commanded by Captain H. R. Cowles. Composed of eighty-four men and officers, all of Washington County, this unit became Company H of the 2nd Iowa Volunteer Infantry. Its officers were H. R. Cowles, captain; A. L. Thompson, first lieutenant; and N. P. Chipman, second lieutenant.

Several months later, Washington County again provided a company for the Union army. This was at first known as the Kirkwood Guards and was organized by Captain Benjamin Crabb. It later became Company H of the 7th Iowa Volunteer Infantry, with Benjamin Crabb as captain, W. P. Crawford as first lieutenant, and G. G. Bennett as second lieutenant. Next to leave the county for the front was the Washington Rifles, with W. B. Bell as captain, S. E. Rankin as first lieutenant, and A. A. Rodman as second lieutenant. Subsequently, Washington County "was represented in whole or in part in almost every regiment from the State. Its record in the war was a glorious one."

THIRD COURTHOUSE

Just before and during the Civil War period, Washington County transacted its official business in its second courthouse, completed in 1847. But this edifice gradually became outmoded. It was in 1887 that the county obtained its third courthouse. When officially opened in that year, citizens of the county gazed with pride on an imposing edifice that cost $75,000 to build.

They saw a handsome brick building trimmed with white stone and ornamented, at its entrances, by life-size symbolic figures of Justice and Liberty. And their eyes turned upwards in admiration of a decorative clock tower at the southwest corner of the structure. No small part of the pride these citizens felt in their new courthouse came from the knowledge that the brick used in building it had been manufactured locally at the Frank E. Swift brickyards.

MANUFACTURING CENTER

It was that same Swift brickyards that gave early impetus to Washington city as a manufacturing center. For the actual beginning of industry in the city, however, we must go back to the year 1853 when Isaac Ditmar established a carriage works here. In its prime Ditmar & Company turned out "about 200 fine carriages and buggies per year." At a later date came the marble works founded by E. T. Hebbener and the brickyards opened by Frank E. Swift.

Today, Washington city, with a population of nearly 6,000, is a manufacturing center of considerable importance in Iowa. Among leading plants located here are the American Pearl Button Company, McCleery-Cumming Company (calenders), Curran Company (tallies, valentines), Washington Manufacturing Company (turnbuckles, etc.), and Cargill, Inc. (soybean meal). The city is served by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific, and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads as well as by state highways 1 and 92.

SENATOR SMITH W. BROOKHART

When young Smith W. Brookhart hung out his lawyer's shingle in Washington city one day in the early 1890's, he began a public career in Washington County that led him to the United States Senate and to national renown as one of America's foremost lawmakers. He lived in Washington city from 1892 until his death in 1944.

A native of Scotland County, Missouri, where he was born on February 2, 1869, Smith Wildman Brookhart attended Southern Iowa Normal School at Bloomfield, Iowa, and also studied law there in the office of Payne & Sowers. Soon after being admitted to the Iowa bar in 1892, Brookhart came to Washington city and there began the practice of law.

In 1895 he was elected prosecuting attorney of Washington County and served in that office until 1901. Then, in 1897, Brookhart married Jennie Hearne of Keosauqua, Iowa. Six children were born of this marriage—Charles E., John R., Smith W., Florence H., Edith A., and Joseph W.

A typical Iowa "dirt farmer" as well as lawyer, Smith W. Brookhart at an early date became one of the leaders of the Republican party in Iowa. In 1912 he served as chairman of the Republican State Convention in Iowa. During this period also he was an active member of the Farmers' Union, Farm Bureau, Spanish-American War Veterans and the National Rifle Association.

It was in 1922 that Brookhart was first elected to the United States Senate. This was during the administration of President Harding. He was again elected to the same office in 1926 and served during the administrations of Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. Afterwards, or in the early part of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration, Brookhart served as special advisor to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Not least among the late Senator Brookhart's accomplishments was his knowledge of the rifle and his skill in the use of it. As we have seen, he was long a member of the National Rifle Association. During the first World War his book Rifle Training in War was regarded as one of the most valuable works on the subject. Senator Brookhart died on November 14, 1944, at the age of seventy-five.

MAPLE CREST TURKEY FARMS

In recent years, Washington County emerged as one of the leading turkey-raising centers of the nation. At one period its famed Maple Crest Co-operative Turkey Farms, on the outskirts of the town of Wellman, produced some half a million turkeys annually, valued at about $2,000,000. More than 170 farmers in the vicinity of Wellman took part in this co-operative project, supplying turkeys that were shipped from Wellman to all parts of the United States.

LAKE DARLING STATE PARK

In the southwest corner of the county, in Clay Township, may be found Lake Darling State Park, a recreation area of interest to both county residents and citizens of other parts of Iowa. The park is located about three miles west of the town of Brighton on State 1. It embraces an area of 1,125 acres of natural woodland and contains an artificial lake for swimming, boating and fishing. The park also offers hiking trails and picnicing facilities.

"WHO'S WHO" IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

Included in the latest (1955) edition of that standard reference work, Who's Who In America, is a biography-in-brief of the Reverend Robert W. Thompson of Washington city. In addition to serving as pastor of various Presbyterian churches in Iowa, Illinois and Kansas, the Reverend Mr. Thompson occupied the position of superintendent of the Synod of Illinois from 1935 to 1947 and the Synod of Iowa from 1922 to 1923.

A native of New Rumley, Ohio, where he was born on December 16, 1870, the Reverend Mr. Thompson was educated at Monmouth College and Xenia (Ohio) Theological Seminary. In 1900 he was married to Alice M. Martin and three children were born of this marriage—Samuel Martin, George Rutan (deceased), and Dorothy Mossman. It was in 1918 that the Reverend Mr. Thompson first came to Iowa, having been appointed pastor that year of the First Presbyterian Church of Des Moines.

He served in the Des Moines church until 1926, after which he was appointed to a church at West Allis, Wisconsin. From 1923 to 1928 he was a member of the General Council of the Presbyterian Church. In 1936 the Reverend Mr. Thompson served as Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Pittsburg, Kansas. A special writer for the United Presbyterian, the Reverend Mr. Thompson is also the author of Discussion for Classes in Church Membership, an authoritative booklet in the field of church procedure.

WASHINGTON COUNTY TODAY

On the basis of the latest published United States census returns, a statistical profile may be drawn of Washington County as it was in 1950, or in mid-twentieth century. In that year the county had a total population of 19,577, which placed it 1,472nd in population rank among the 3,103 counties of the United States.

In that same year its county seat, Washington city, had a population of 5,902—an increase of 12.9 per cent over its 1940 figure.

Having a land area of 568 square miles, the county's density of population was 34 inhabitants per square mile. Of the county's total population, 8,509 were classified as rural residents, 5,902 as urban residents (all of whom lived in Washington city), and 5,146 as rural non-farm residents (dwellers in towns and villages). In 1950 there were in the county 2,127 infants under five years of age, 2,515 persons sixty-five years old and over, and the median age was given as 31.9 years. At that time, also, 1,100 residents of the county were either living temporarily in some other county of the United States or traveling abroad. The total number of potential voters then (persons twenty-one years old and over) was 12,427.

Under the heading of vital statistics, Washington County in 1950 had 456 live births, 193 deaths (including six infants), and 150 marriages. There were then 5,025 families in the county (two or more persons related by marriage or blood). The median income of all of these families was given as $2,866, with 29.4 per cent having incomes of less than $2,000 and 18.1 per cent having incomes of $5,000 or more.

In the field of education, the county in 1950 had a total of 3,415 young persons between the ages of seven and seventeen (school age). Within this total there were 2,255 youngsters between the ages of seven and thirteen years (primary school age), and 96.6 per cent of these were enrolled in primary schools. There were also 920 between the ages of fourteen and seventeen years (high school age), and 85.2 per cent of these were enrolled in high schools. Of all persons in the county twenty-five years old and over, it was found that the median number of school years they completed was 9.4. The education figures showed further that 2.9 per cent of these had less than five grades of schooling, while 38.7 per cent had high school or college educations. The institutional population of the county in 1950 (inmates of homes for delinquent or dependent children, homes for the aged, prisons, etc.) was 95.

On the subject of labor, Washington County in 1950 had a total potential labor force (persons fourteen years old and over) of 14,416. Actually employed, however, were 7,447, of which 81.4 per cent were males and 23.0 per cent females. The labor figures revealed further that 3,183 were employed in agriculture, 1,359 in wholesale and retail trade, 524 in professional and related services, 470 in manufacturing, 406 in construction, 374 in transportation, communication and other public utilities, 331 in business and personal services, 118 in finance, insurance and real estate, and 23 in mining. The labor figures were summed up by showing that 43.2 per cent of the total employed in Washington in 1950 were engaged in agriculture, while 6.4 per cent were engaged in manufacturing.

With respect to housing, the county in 1950 had a total of 6,341 dwelling units (in 1940 it had 5,968). The median number of rooms per unit was given as 5.9. More than 86 per cent were one-dwelling unit detached structures (including occupied trailers), 6.4 per cent were built in 1940 or later, and 44.8 per cent had hot running water with private toilet and bath. Of all of the occupied dwelling units, it was found that the median number of persons per unit was 2.8. It was learned further that 64.4 per cent were owner-occupied, 48.2 per cent had central heating, 84.8 per cent had mechanical refrigerators, and 94.4 per cent had radios. The total number of non-farm dwelling units was 3,868 and the median value of these was given as $5,696. The median gross monthly rental in renter-occupied houses was given as $43.58.

In 1948, when the last United States business census was taken, Washington County had a total of 295 retail stores, which employed 949 persons and which grossed $21,316,000 in sales. The largest retail group were eating and drinking places, which numbered 51 and which grossed $1,207,000 in sales. Next largest were food stores, which numbered 41 and which grossed $2,939,000 in sales. There were 48 wholesale establishments in the county in 1948 and these employed 175 persons and grossed $23,289,000 in sales. In that same year, also, there were 75 personal, business and repair service establishments, and these employed 62 persons and had total receipts of $639,000.

As we have seen, most manufacturing in the county is done in Washington city. In 1947 there were 20 manufacturing establishments in the county. These employed 983 persons and produced goods, articles, materials, etc., in the amount of $2,495,000. Salaries and wages amounting to $983,000 were paid to the industrial workers.

That Washington is more of an agricultural county than a manufacturing one may be seen at a glance in United States census figures for 1950. In that year the county had a total of 2,172 farms, of which 1,998 were classified as commercial farms. More than 34 per cent of these were operated by tenants. The average value of land and buildings per farm for all farms was given as $28,231. In 1949, when such figures were last obtained, the value of all farm products sold (crops, livestock, poultry, dairy products) amounted to $19,686,000. Of this total, the value of livestock alone sold amounted to $14,261,000. There were 40,888 head of cattle and calves of all ages in the county in 1949. In that same year, farm expenditures amounted to $4,185,000 for livestock and poultry feed and $800,000 for hired labor.

Total bank deposits of Washington County, as of December 1, 1950, amounted to $16,433,000. In that same year the county's single savings and loan association had total deposits of $1,326,000, with $991,000 in first mortgage loans outstanding.

CITY OF WASHINGTON

As the story of the city of Washington is largely the story of Washington County, details of the city's past will be found in the opening narrative of this work. Today, Washington city has a total population of 5,902—an increase of 12.9 per cent over its 1940 figure. The city, however, is the center of a retail trading area estimated at nearly 23,000 population and including all of Washington County and parts of adjoining counties.

Located thirty-four miles south of Iowa City on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads, Washington city, besides being the county's seat of justice, is a manufacturing center of considerable importance in the Hawkeye State. One of its most famous residents was the late Senator Smith W. Brookhart, who served with distinction in the upper house of Congress during the 1920's.

Among leading manufacturing plants located in Washington city are the American Pearl Button Company, McCleery-Cumming Company (calenders), Curran Company (tallies, valentines), Washington Manufacturing Company (turnbuckles, etc.), and Cargill, Inc. (soybean meal). In addition to its three railroads, the city is served by state highways 1 and 92.

BRIGHTON

One of the oldest towns of the county is Brighton, which today has a population of 705. Located southwest of Washington city, near the Skunk River, this incorporated town has numerous retail stores and service establishments, as well as a postoffice and banking facilities. It is served by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad and by State 1. Three miles west of Brighton is located Lake Darling State Park, a public recreation area with an artificial lake.

Brighton was platted in 1840 by Orson Kinsman and Thompson Dray, early settlers of the region. Its first postmaster and first storekeeper was John Lewis. Today, Brighton is the only community in Brighton Township, which has a total population of 1,094. Some of the first settlers of Washington County lived in this township. Among these were James Miller, Seneca Beach, Silas Washburn and Morgan Hart.

Only community of Cedar Township, northwest of Washington city, is the hamlet of Lexington, with a population of twenty-five. It is served by the post-office at nearby Washington city. The hamlet was founded in 1865 by M. D. Storey, an early settler. In 1868 there was organized here the Baptist Church of Lexington, and in 1873 the Methodist Episcopal Church was established. The township in which the hamlet is located has a present population of 533. It was first settled in 1839 by Calvin Craven. Among those who arrived soon afterwards were William Myers, William Dusenberry, Lenox Dayton and William Hinkston.

RUBIO

In the southwest corner of the county, near the Keokuk County line, lies the village of Rubio, which in 1950 had a population of ninety. It has several retail stores and service establishments, as well as a postoffice and banking facilities. The village is served by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad. Just north of it winds the Skunk River while just southeast of it may be found Lake Darling State Park, a public recreation area with an artificial lake. Rubio is the only community in Clay Township, which has a total population of 442. The township was first settled in 1839 by Ellis Walters, Moses Haskins, Sr., Moses Haskins, Jr., Richard Disney, Robert McCarthy and H. T. Pringle.

CRAWFORDSVILLE

It was near the present incorporated town of Crawfordsville that Adam Ritchie, first settler of Washington County, staked out a claim in 1835. Others who came soon afterwards were Matthew Moorhead, Thomas Caldwell, Henry Osborne, Thomas Baker, the Neals, Isaac Pence and Dr. Isaac Crawford (after whom the town of Crawfordsville was named). The town was founded at an early date by kinsmen of Dr. Crawford. Today, it has a population of 286. It is located in the southeast corner of the county on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and on US 218. Crawfordsville is the only community in Crawford Township, which has a total population of 839. When Washington County was organized in 1839, what is now Crawford Township had more settlers than any other portion of the new county.

VALLEY

At the western edge of the county, near the Keokuk County line, is located the hamlet of Valley, only community of Dutch Creek Township. The hamlet derived its name from an early postoffice here which served the one-time village of Paris, founded in 1846 by Eleazer Kinkade. The Pleasant Valley congregation of United Presbyterians was organized here in 1848. The township in which Valley is located has a present population of 509. First settler of the township was Michael Augustine, who came in 1838. Others who arrived soon afterwards were Conrad Temple, David Sikes, David Bunker and a Mr. Junkins.

KALONA

Just north of English River, on State 1 and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, lies the thriving town of Kalona, with a present population of 947. It has numerous retail stores, service establishments, a postoffice and banking facilities. The town was platted in 1879. It is now the largest community of English River Township, which has a total population of 1,900. Among the earliest settlers of the township was Dr. Joseph Hamilton, who was a Methodist minister as well as physician.

RICHMOND

Although smaller than Kalona, having a present population of 150, the village of Richmond is much older. It was laid out in 1840, one year after Washington County was organized. One of the earliest Roman Catholic churches in the county, Holy Trinity, was built in Richmond in 1855.

WEST CHESTER

A description of West Chester, written more than sixty-five years ago, contained these words: "It has two general stores, one lumber yard, one blacksmith shop and an elevator. There are three church buildings and a very creditable school building in the place." Today, West Chester has a population of 218. It is located northwest of Washington city on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad and on State 92. West Chester is the largest community in Franklin Township, which has a total population of 729. Before its organization in 1854, this township was part of older Cedar Township.

GRACE HILL

South of West Chester, in Franklin Township, may be found the hamlet of Grace Hill, which today has a population of forty. It is served by the postoffice at nearby Washington city. The hamlet was founded about ninety years ago as a shipping point for farmers of the countryside. A Moravian church was organized here in 1866.

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP

Although without any towns or villages, Highland Township is a fully developed farming area. In 1950 it had a rural population of 454. It is located northeast of Washington city and through it runs US 218. The township was organized in 1854 from a portion of older Iowa Township. The first settler of Highland Township was John Clark, who came from Indiana in 1840. In the following year A. D. Liming arrived. He died in 1844 and his death was the first in the township. The first marriage in the township took place in 1845 when John Parks and Elizabeth Wallace were united by the Reverend John Hayden.

RIVERSIDE

In the northeast corner of the county, not far from the confluence of the English and Iowa rivers, lies the incorporated town of Riverside, with a population of 631. It has a number of retail stores, service establishments, a postoffice and banking facilities. The town is served by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad and by State 22. Riverside was laid out in 1872 by J. Boyd and A. B. Rose and at first was the terminus of the Muscatine Railroad. "In the beginning," says one local history, "Riverside experienced much trouble from the saloon element, there being no less than eight at one time, promoting much disorder. In 1882 the town was incorporated and the saloons were reduced to three in number and put under restrictions. A better state of things at once prevailed, which was still further advanced when prohibition went into effect." Today, Riverside is the only community of Iowa Township, which has a total population of 1,266.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP

JACKSON TOWNSHIP

An area of undulating prairie land, Jackson Township, located north of Washington city, is one of the most fertile townships in the county. It has a total population of 580. There are no towns or villages in the township. Its west boundary line is State 1. Among early settlers of the area, all of whom came in the middle 1840's, were Henry Rathmell, W. J. Stedman, William Rownd, David Donaldson, J. M. Meek, and the Glasgow family. First organized church in the township was the Grand Prairie Church, established in 1859. A sizable number of Bohemian Americans settled in the north part of the township during its early years.

WELLMAN

Second largest community of Washington County is the incorporated town of Wellman, which in 1950 had a population of 1,071. It is located in the northwest portion of the county on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad and at the junction of state highways 22 and 81. Wellman is the shipping point of an extensive turkey-raising industry in the countryside round about. The town contains a turkey packing plant, hatchery and feed mill, as well as facilities for shipping corn, oats and hay.

Wellman was platted in 1879. Today, it is the principal community of Lime Creek Township, which has a total population of 2,130. Among early settlers of the township, all of whom came in the 1840's, were William Davidson, M. Hull, David McFarland, W. L. Hewitt, Dr. James Waters, Benjamin Parker, S. C. Waters, Isaac Leighton and Joseph Wasson.

DAYTONVILLE

Another community of Lime Creek Township is the village of Daytonville, with a present population of 120. It is served by the postoffice at nearby Wellman. The village was laid out in 1848 and at first showed signs of rapid development. It declined, however, when the Rock Island railroad was built several miles to the south and a new town, Wellman, was platted on the road.

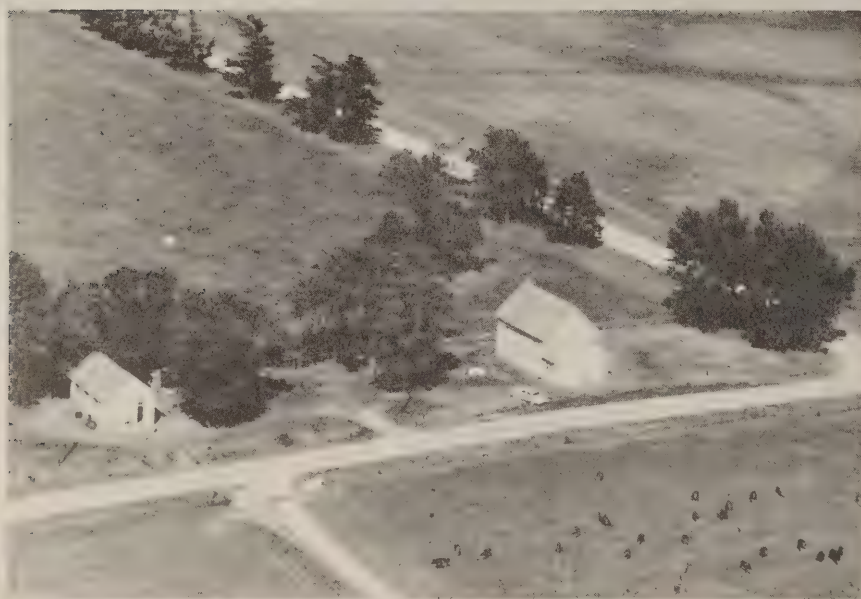

NIRA

Still another community of Lime Creek Township is the hamlet of Nira, with a population of twelve. It is served by the postoffice at nearby Wellman. This village was founded more than seventy-five years ago when the Rock Island railroad was first built through the area.

CRAWFORDSVILLE BALL PARK

COPPOCK

A small portion of the village of Coppock, numbering sixteen inhabitants, lies in Marion Township. The village is located mainly in Henry County and has a total population of eighty-one.

NOBLE

On the south boundary line of the county, in Marion Township, is located the village of Noble, with a population of thirty-five. It is served by the postoffice at nearby Mount Pleasant (in Henry County). The village was named after E. C. Noble, who platted it more than seventy-five years ago. He was an early settler and large land owner of the region. The township in which the village is located has a present population of 703. First settler of the township was Milo Holcomb, who came here in 1837 and opened a general store. Three years later he was elected first sheriff of Washington County.

AINSWORTH

At the intersection of US 218 and State 92, in the eastern portion of the county, stands the incorporated town of Ainsworth, with a population of 396. It has a number of retail stores, service establishments, a postoffice and banking facilities. Through it runs the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad. The town was founded in 1858 by D. H. Ainsworth, early settler. First religious congregation in Ainsworth was that of the United Brethren Church, organized in 1860. Today, Ainsworth is the principal community of Oregon Township, which has a total population of 1,002. The township was first settled in 1837 by David Goble, who came with his family of four sons, one daughter, and a young man named Sweet.

HASKINS

Another community of Oregon Township is the village of Haskins, with a population of sixty. It is located on US 218 and on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad. Haskins has a number of retail stores, service establishments and a postoffice.

WASHINGTON CITY

Principal community of Washington Township is Washington city, described in detail in the opening chapter of this section of the present work. Parts of Washington Township were annexed to Washington city in 1947.

HAVRE

Another community of Washington Township is the hamlet of Havre, with a population of twenty. It is served by the postoffice at Washington city. Havre is located southeast of Washington city on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. The hamlet is surrounded by prosperous farms.

FIRST AID

WHAT TO DO IN CERTAIN EMERGENCIES

First aid is the first care given to help injury or sudden illness until necessary treatment can be given by a physician.

Cuts and Scratches: If severe, stop the bleeding by direct pressure on the wound with a sterile pad. When the bleeding ceases, paint with 2 per cent iodine and let it dry thoroughly before applying bandage or Band-Aid.

Open Wounds: Clean dirty or greasy wounds with high grade benzine, then apply half strength iodine. All open wounds should be covered with gauze or bandage. Do not touch wound with fingers. Do not use anything but accepted antiseptics, or blood poisoning may be caused.

Burns: For severe burns call a physician at once. To slight burns apply sterile gauze wrung out in a solution of warm water and baking soda, or apply the 5 per cent tannic acid jelly from your first aid kit. Never put iodine on a burn. Apply any bandage loosely.

Poison Ivy and Sumac: Wash thoroughly with soap and warm water. Apply dressings kept wet with a very strong solution of Epsom salts and cold water; or else apply a thick paste made of soap and warm water, which should be allowed to dry and remain on all night.

Insect Stings: Remove "sting" and apply household ammonia or a paste made of baking soda.

Sprains: Violent stretching or twisting of a joint may cause a sprain. It is characterized by pain and rapid swelling. Keep injured part raised, on pillow if an ankle, in sling if a wrist. Apply compresses wrung out of cold water, or ice bags. Send for a doctor if the case is severe.

Fainting: Keep patient lying down and lower head. Loosen any tight clothing. Apply ammonia inhalant or smelling salts to nose and sprinkle face with cold water.

Shock: Lay patient on back, head low, loosen clothing around neck, chest and abdomen. Keep warm with blankets and hot water bottles. If conscious and able to swallow, give hot, strong coffee, hot milk, or half a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in water.

Fracture: Apply splints reaching above and below the joints of the fractured bone, to permit moving without pain or danger. Three persons are needed for lifting on stretcher—one at head and shoulders, one at hips, and the other at the legs.

Eye Injuries: Loose particles may be removed from eyelid with a clean handkerchief or a bit of cotton rolled on a toothpick. Particles embedded in the eyeball or lid must always be left to a surgeon, or blindness may result. Use cold compress temporarily to relieve pain until doctor arrives.

Sunstroke: Cool head and body—especially head—as quickly as possible with cold compresses, ice bags, or a cool bath. Never give stimulants. Keep head slightly raised. Treat heat exhaustion same as shock.

Fits: Do not attempt to hold patient down. Place any small object between teeth to prevent biting tongue. Let sleep after the attack has passed, as exhaustion usually follows.

Dog Bite: Wash wound with running water, and apply tincture of iodine. Bandage and take to doctor immediately to decide whether Pasteur or Vaccine Treatment is advisable. Have the dog examined by the local health authorities for possible evidence of rabies.

FOR POISONING

First: Send for a physician.

Second: Induce vomiting by tickling throat with feather or finger. Drink hot water or strong mustard and water. Swallow sweet oil or whites of eggs.

SPECIAL POISONS AND ANTIDOTES

Acids: Muriatic, Oxalic, Acetic Sulphuric (Oil of Vitriol), Nitric (Aqua Fortis).

Ant.: Soap suds, magnesia, lime-water.

Prussic Acid: Cyanide of Potassium.

Ant.: Ammonia in water. Dash water in face. Give stimulants.

Carbolic Acid:

Ant.: Flour and water, mucilaginous drinks.

Alkalies: Potash, Lye, Hartshorn, Ammonia.

Ant.: Vinegar or lemon juice in water.

Arsenic: Rat Poison, Paris Green.

Ant.: Milk, raw eggs, sweet oil, lime-water, flour and water.

Bug Poison: Lead, Saltpetre, Corrosive Sublimate, Sugar of Lead, Blue Vitriol.

Ant.: Whites of eggs or milk in large doses.

Chloroform: Chloral, Ether.

Ant.: Give emetic, keep patient aroused; apply mustard plaster over heart and calves of legs; use artificial respiration.

Carbonate of Soda: Copperas, Cobalt.

Ant.: Soap suds and mucilaginous drinks.

Iodine: Antimony, Tartar Emetic.

Ant.: Starch and water, chalk, magnesia, starchy food, strong tea. Apply external heat.

Mercury and its Salts.

Ant.: Whites of Eggs, Milk Mucilages.

Opium: Morphine, Laudanum, Paregoric, Soothing Powders or Syrups.

Ant.: Strong coffee, mustard or ipecac as emetic. Keep awake and moving. Keep warm.

HANDY FACTS TO KNOW

To find diameter of a circle multiply circumference by .31831.

To find the circumference of a circle multiply diameter by 3.1416.

To find area of a circle multiply square of diameter by .7854.

To find surface of a ball multiply square of diameter by 3.1416.

To find side of an equal square multiply diameter by .8862.

To find cubic inches in a ball multiply cube of diameter by .5236.

Doubling the diameter of a pipe increases its capacity four times.

Double riveting is from 16 to 20 per cent stronger than single.

One cubic foot of anthracite coal weighs about 53 pounds.

One cubic foot of bituminous coal weighs from 47 to 50 pounds.

One ton of coal is equivalent to two cords of wood for steam purposes.

A gallon of water (U. S. Standard) weighs 8½ pounds and contains 231 cubic inches.

A cubic foot of water contains 7½ gallons, 1,728 cubic inches, and weighs 62½ pounds.

Each nominal horse power of a boiler requires 30 to 35 pounds of water per hour.

To sharpen dull files lay them in dilute sulphuric acid until they are eaten deep enough.

A horse power is equivalent to raising 33,000 pounds one foot per minute, or 550 pounds one foot per second.

The average consumption of coal for steam boilers is 12 pounds per hour for each square foot of grate surface.

To find the pressure in pounds per square inch of a column of water multiply the height of the column in feet by .434.

Steam rising from water at its boiling point (212 degrees) has a pressure equal to the atmosphere (14.7 pounds to the square inch).

To evaporate one cubic foot of water requires the consumption of 7½ pounds of ordinary coal, or about 1 pound of coal to 1 gallon of water.

 ¾ Inch equals 1 size in measuring boots and shoes.

4 Inches equals 1 hand in measuring horses.
 1 Link equals 7.92 inches.
 1 Rod equals 25 links, 16½ feet.
 1 Chain equals 4 rods, 66 feet.
 1 Mile equals 80 chains, 5280 feet.
 Wall paper is usually 18 inches wide.
 A single roll is 24 feet long.
 A double roll is 48 feet long.
 A lath is 4 feet long and 1½ inches wide.
 Builders calculate that a bunch of laths will cover 3 sq. yds.
 1000 Shingles, applied 4 in. to weather cover about 100 sq. ft.
 1000 Shingles require about 5 pounds shingle nails.
 20 Yards of surface will require about 1000 laths.
 1000 Laths will require about 11 pounds of lath nails.

HOW TO REMOVE STAINS

Blood and meat juice. Use cold water; soap and cold water; or starch paste.

Bluing. Use boiling water.

Chocolate and cocoa. Use borax and cold water; bleach if necessary.

Coffee and tea. (Clear.)—Use boiling water; bleach if necessary. (With cream.)—Use cold water, then boiling water; bleach if necessary.

Cream and milk. Use cold water, then soap and cold water.

Egg. Use cold water.

Fruit and fruit juices. Use boiling water; bleach if necessary.

Grass. Use cold water; soap and cold water; alcohol; or a bleaching agent.

Grease and oils. Use French chalk, blotting paper or other absorbent; or warm water and soap; or gasoline, benzine, or carbon tetrachloride.

Iodine. Use warm water and soap; alcohol; or ammonia.

Ink. Try cold water; then use an acid or bleach if necessary.

Iron. Use oxalic acid; hydrochloric acid; salts of lemon; or lemon juice and salt.

Kerosene. Use warm water and soap.

Lampblack and soot. Use kerosene, benzine, chloroform, ether, gasoline, or carbon tetrachloride.

Medicine. Use alcohol.

Mildew. If fresh, use cold water; otherwise try to bleach with javelle water or potassium permanganate.

Paint and varnish. Use alcohol, carbon tetrachloride, chloroform, or turpentine.

Perspiration. Use soap and warm water; bleach in the sun or with javelle water or potassium permanganate.

Pitch, tar, and wheel grease. Rub with fat; then use soap and warm water; or benzine, gasoline, or carbon tetrachloride.

Scorch. Bleach in the sunshine or with javelle water.

Shoe polish. (Black.)—Use soap and water; or turpentine. (Tan.)—Use alcohol.

Syrup. Use water.

Stove polish. Use cold water and soap kerosene, benzine, or gasoline.

Vaseline. Use kerosene or turpentine.

Water. Steam or sponge the entire of water-spotted materials.

Wax. Scrape off as much as possible. Use French chalk, blotting paper or other absorbent, with a warm iron; or use benzine or gasoline. If color remains, use alcohol or bleach.

RULES FOR COMPUTING INTEREST

The following is an approximate way to estimate the interest on any principal for any number of days. When the principal contains cents, mark off four places from the right of the result to express the interest in dollars and cents. When the principal contains dollars only, mark off two places.

2%—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run, and divide by 180.

4%—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run and divide by 90.

5%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 72.

6%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 60.

7%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 52.

8%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 45.

9%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 40.

10%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 36.

12%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 30.

15%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 24.

"DON'TS" IN THE USE OF THE FLAG

The conference called at Washington in June, 1923, to draw up a code covering proper civil usage of the flag, adopted the following list of things to avoid:

1. Do not dip the flag of the United States to any person or any thing. The regimental color, State flag, organization or institutional flag, will render this honor. At sea the flag may be dipped in acknowledgment of the salute of the flag of another nation.
2. Do not display the flag of the United States with the Union down except as a signal of distress.
3. Do not place any other flag or pennant above or to the right of the flag.
4. Do not let the flag of the United States touch the ground or tail in the water.
5. Do not place any object or emblem of any kind on or above the flag of the United States.
6. Do not use the flag as drapery.
7. Do not fasten the flag in such manner as will permit it to be easily torn.
8. Do not drape the flag over the top or sides of a vehicle, train or boat.
9. Do not use the flag to drape over front of a platform or over chairs or benches.
10. Do not display the flag on a float in a parade except on a staff.
11. Do not use the flag as a ceiling covering.
12. Do not use the flag of the United States as a portion of a costume.
13. Do not put lettering upon the flag.
14. Do not use the flag in any advertising.
15. Do not use the flag in such a manner as to cause it to be soiled or damaged.

December 25. Christmas Day.

There are no statutory holidays in Mississippi, but by Common consent the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas are observed. In New Mexico, Washington's Birthday, Decoration Day, Labor Day, Flag Day (June 14), and Arbor Day are holidays, when so designated by the Governor. In South Carolina, Thursday of Fair Week is a legal holiday.

Arbor Day is observed by the States on different days, usually in the Spring; in Georgia, in December. The dates in the same States often vary from year to year by proclamation.

Mother's Day is observed on the second Sunday in May.

Father's Day is observed on the third Sunday in June.

Saturday Afternoon is a holiday in many of the States and Cities and in the District of Columbia. Sundays are statutory holidays in Canada.

When a Legal Holiday falls on a Sunday, the following day is generally observed.
